126 crews entered and 121 crews finished but it was not as simple as that. Nos. 1-59 started as per programme but 60, London VII, having scratched, the following crews were all moved up one place. Kingston I and Imperial College III apparently both started wearing 46, while Walton II was inserted at 70 in Kingston's place. LSE I scratched so no. 71 was omitted entirely, while Lady Elizabeth, Dublin was inserted at 74. However as 75 had scratched, the order was still wrong and the absence of 79, 80 and 87 meant that Cygnet (88 in the programme) actually started at 84. 115 and 117 had scratched so Midland Bank and Kildare were inserted but started at 110 and 112 respectively in the revised order! One wonders what those spectators who had bought programmes made of it all ...
